

ALC Consulting | International Recruiters | Frankfurt | Berlin

<https://alc-consulting.de/en/job/application-engineer-m-w-x/>

Application Engineer (m/w/x)

Description

- Technical user support – create technical documents – implement measurement campaigns
- Support for users with technical questions
- Creation and maintenance of application-related, technical documents
- Implementation of measurement campaigns in the company and with users
- Hardware and software validation
- Checking and improving the user experience

Qualifications

- Successfully completed, subject-related studies (e.g. electrical engineering, communications engineering, information system technology, physics, mechatronics) or comparable training
- Profound knowledge in the field of (RF) measurement technology and/or EMC
- Joy in solution-oriented communication with users in English and German
- Experience with structured technical documentation
- Basic programming knowledge desirable
- Structured way of working and self-organization

Packages

- Flexible working hours
- Performance-linked wages
- Independent work in a team-oriented environment
- Very good development opportunities
- Innovative corporate culture
- Versatile, international projects

Contacts

Dr. Ansgar Lauterbach

a.lauterbach@alc-consulting.de

0173 9193462

Hiring organization

Our customer is one of the world's leading manufacturers of optically powered sensors, RF E-field probes, analog-optical RF transmission systems and high-speed RF power meters. Their innovative products help EMC laboratories, car manufacturers, electronics developers and many other users, to perform their measurements more precise and faster.

Beginning of employment

Ab sofort

Job Location

Dresden, Germany

Date posted

21. December 2023