

ALC Consulting | International Recruiters | Frankfurt | Berlin

<https://alc-consulting.de/en/job/sheet-metal-repair-technician-m-w-x-2/>

Composite Repair Technician (m/w/x)

Description

- Detect damage to GRP/CRP aircraft components and determine the correct repair techniques and repair materials
- Safely and efficiently apply manufacturer specifications, relevant repair documentation, work orders and drawings
- Safely carry out repair work on GRP and CFRP aircraft components using standard methods (grinding, laminating, vacuum packaging, curing, painting, polishing)
- Checking the work carried out • Creation of the necessary technical documentation of all repair work carried out
- Simultaneous processing of various orders and ensuring timely completion
- Care and maintenance of tools

Qualifications

- Training in the field of structural mechanics, fiber composite technology; or comparable
- Ideally professional experience in the field of composite repair according to SRM or CMM in aviation / automotive
- Experience in using technical documentation Independent, structured and service-oriented way of working
- Good communication skills, high level of social skills, spoken and written German and English, confident handling of MS Office applications, class B driver's license

Packages

- Demanding tasks in the field of aeronautical engineering
- Working in an international working environment in a motivated and successful team
- Crisis-proof job in a dynamically growing company
- Attractive remuneration conditions and a permanent employment contract
- Continuous training and qualification measures
- JobRad
- Employee benefits with special conditions from well-known manufacturers and brands

Contacts

Dr. Ansgar Lauterbach

a.lauterbach@alc-consulting.de

0173 9193462

Hiring organization

In the aviation sector, our customer specializes in the development of repair technologies in the field of fiber composite and metal materials. Do you want to work independently in an international work environment and have an eye for details? Then you've come to the right place! Become part of an international team in a growing company as a Sheet Metal Repair Technician (m/f/x).

Beginning of employment

Ab sofort

Job Location

Schkeuditz (Leipzig), Germany

Date posted

21. December 2023